Wedding of Ludvicka Ginetis Like Fairy Story to Sixteen-Year-Old Chicago Girl.

IS TO HAVE A CASTLE IN TEXAS

Rapids City Scientist Will Take His Wife and Her Family to Ranch By Seashore.

The Chicago Herald of today printed details of the romantic marriage of the sage of Rapids City and a sixteen-year-old Chicago girl told of in the Argus of yesterday. The Herald says: "Just as in the fairy tales, she heard in her father's office of her Lithuanian birthplace, Ludvicka P. Ginetis has become a countess and will be carried away to a magnificent home beside an inland sea."

She is now Countess Ludvicka Braganza de la Corralles, wife of Sebastian Corralles Braganza de la Corralles, and is now, it is said, 17 years, was a beautiful and happy spirit yesterday when he asked his bride and her family to be ready to accompany him before the end of the week.

Banked by Seashore.

They are in Matagorda Bay Texas, where a part of the gift is cut off by the shore to make an inland sea and where the count has a ranch.

Ludvicka Ginetis, who is the 16-year-old, was beside herself with excitement and fear that it wasn't real, she said, as she showed a picture of her husband, who traces his lineage to the Corralles of Carrollton and was a student of astrophysics, physics, chemistry, sculpture and painting.

The countess yesterday appeared in person to thank the Herald for finding a titled husband for her and to say he had left to pack up his belongings at Port Byron, Ill., while she was at work in Chicago preparing to leave for the sunny Texas shore.

Rapids City, Ill., Oct. 8.—All Rapids City was waiting today for the appearance of Mr. Corralles, prepared to give him a fitting reception in celebration of his marriage. At noon he had not reached his home here.

Corralles applied for a license here last week but was informed by County Clerk Hubbard that under the laws of the state he could not procure a license to wed a 16-year-old girl.

TO STOP TRANSIT OF BRITISH TRADE

Because of England's Treatment Sweden Intends to Interfere With Supplies for That Country.

Stockholm, Sept. 26.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Declared in transmission—Admiral Lindman, former Swedish premier and present leader of the Conservative party, denied in an interview with a correspondent of The Associated Press today that Sweden was prepared to make any concession in her trade dispute with England.

It has been rumored in Stockholm that on the return of the English commissioners and the resumption of the conference, Sweden would be forced to her serious shortage of coal to waive the principle of free commerce, which she has insisted upon, and to comply with England's request that she no longer delay the transit of supplies to Russia.

"It is unfortunate," said Admiral Lindman, "that no league of neutral powers was formed at the beginning of the war to safeguard the rights and privileges of the neutral nations, but since that was not done, it is now the duty of Sweden to defend these rights. One of these rights is her commerce with another neutral nation like the United States. In her dispute with England Sweden is upholding this sovereign right and she will continue to uphold it."

England's action is equivalent to forcing us into a partnership with her, for we regard it as one of the requirements of neutrality to treat both sides impartially in regard to the transit of materials. Now that England has made it impossible for us to send goods to Germany, our only way of correcting this is to refuse to permit the transit of supplies to Russia and England."
